

PRE-LAW SUMMER INSTITUTE

June 1 – 12, 2020 (mandatory online seminar)

June 15 – July 12, 2020 (residential program)

Penn State Dickinson Law – Carlisle, PA

Apply online by March 31, 2020: cleo.org/programs/plsi

Plan to attend law school this fall? Then, this event is for you! CLEO's Pre-Law Summer Institute at Penn State Dickinson Law (Carlisle, PA) prepares entering law students for the academic rigors of the first year of law school. Those who successfully complete the multi-week online and residential program become CLEO or CLIC Legally Inspired Cohort (CLIC) Fellows.

The Pre-Law Summer Institute is limited to 40 participants. The cost is $2,500 per student, which includes dormitory housing at Dickinson College (adjacent to Dickinson Law), food, books, and materials for the program. A CLEO EDGE Pre-Law Scholarship for the cost of the program will be awarded to 10 students.

All applications must be submitted online by March 31, 2020 at cleo.org/programs/plsi.

CLEO, the Council on Legal Education Opportunity, Inc., is committed to inspire, motivate, and prepare students from underrepresented communities to succeed in law school and beyond.

TOP FIVE REASONS TO ATTEND:

- Learn how to read and brief court opinions, prepare for exams, and conquer workload, time, and stress in law school.
- Participate in simulated first-year courses taught by Dickinson Law faculty.
- Learn to write a contracts essay exam and debrief the experience.
- Discover the benefits of study groups and how to make them most productive.
- Begin to build a network of other successful law students.
