PETER G. GLENN

Dean Emeritus

Dean Emeritus Peter G. Glenn graduated from Middlebury College with High Honors in History and earned his J.D. degree cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania Law School where he was Articles Editor of the University of Pennsylvania Law Review. Glenn then served as law clerk to Judge Abraham L. Freedman of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit.

He began law practice as an associate with the multi-state law firm now known as Jones Day and, after three years of practice, began teaching law at the University of North Carolina, followed by law faculty appointments at Washington and Lee University and the University of South Carolina.

In 1983 he returned to the Jones Day firm where he practiced business litigation and served as the firm's Cleveland, Ohio office recruiting committee chair and as training partner for the firm's Litigation Group. During his tenure at Jones Day, Glenn also served as an adjunct professor at the law school of Case Western Reserve University.

In 1994 he was appointed as the ninth dean of the then independent Dickinson School of Law. In that role, he led our Law School to its 1997 affiliation and 2000 merger with Penn State University. During the eight years of his deanship, Glenn taught courses in Professional Responsibility, Constitutional Law, and Civil Procedure.

Following his deanship, Glenn was appointed Executive Deputy General Counsel of the Pennsylvania Governor's Office of General Counsel, with responsibility for oversight of much of the litigation involving the executive departments of the Commonwealth. Following service on the Law School faculty in 2005-2006, he accepted an invitation to become General Counsel of the Reading, Pennsylvania-based law firm Stevens & Lee and served in that position until 2015.

In 2010 Glenn was appointed to the American Bar Association Law School Accreditation Committee and served on that committee until 2016. He also has served as a member of several ABA accreditation site inspection or fact-finding teams.

In 2015 Glenn was invited to both return to the Dickinson Law faculty as an adjunct professor and to serve as a part-time consultant to Stevens & Lee, with responsibility for the firm's associate hiring and training programs. Between 2015 and his retirement in December 2020, he taught several courses at Dickinson Law, including Professional Responsibility, Transactional Writing and Drafting, and Law Practice Management, while also being heavily involved in the School's Appellate Moot Court Program.

In the Fall of 2019, Glenn was the Civil Procedure instructor for the entire class of 2022, a graduating class he considers the best of his entire teaching career.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The academic regalia worn in the commencement ceremony dates back to the 12th century when robes and hoods were necessary for warmth in unheated buildings. The style of the regalia indicates the wearer's highest degree of education. Doctoral robes are black or another color designated by the university granting the degree. The hood is worn around the neck extending down the back. In the late 19th century, regalia began to indicate particular academic disciplines by color. The color for the discipline of law is purple and is often evident in the color of velvet trim on the gown and hood. The lining of the hood displays the colors of the university granting the doctoral degree. The Law School's colors combine red and white, its traditional colors, with the blue and white of The Pennsylvania State University.

ABOUT DICKINSON LAW

As the oldest law school in Pennsylvania and as one of the oldest law schools in the country, Dickinson Law's mission remains remarkably similar to its founding vision: to prepare students of law thoroughly for the practice of their profession. While remaining steeped in the tradition and values that have distinguished the Law School from its inception, Dickinson Law has redefined how it is preparing students to lead their profession in a competitive and evolving 21st century legal landscape. We fulfill and further our mission of Practice Greatness and our core values of teaching, scholarship, service, and community by equipping our students with the entire range of concrete skills necessary to excel as legal professionals at local, state, national, and international levels. Our interdisciplinary approach pairs theory and doctrine not only with practical lawyering skills, but also with an advanced set of extralegal competencies, including strategic problem solving; leadership; risk and project management; cultural competence; and interpersonal communication and empathy. The education of our students is enhanced by the relationship with our world-renowned parent public research institution, The Pennsylvania State University; partnerships with the adjacent nonprofit, private, and public sector legal community; and semester-long experiential opportunities in Harrisburg, Washington, D.C., New York City, San Francisco/Silicon Valley, Los Angeles/Hollywood/Beverly Hills, Dallas/Houston, and The Hague.

The class of 2022 is the 143rd class to graduate from the Law School. Over the course of the Law School's long and distinguished history, more than 14,900 students have received degrees. Alumni include three United States senators; six governors; the first secretary of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security; the first woman to serve as chief judge of the United States District Court for the Middle District of Pennsylvania; more than 100 federal and state judges; the founder of one of the nation's leading law firms led by African-Americans; the first woman president of the Pennsylvania Bar Association; the first elected attorney general of Pennsylvania; and countless other leaders of the bar, bench, and their communities.
